SPORTS REPORTER

Versatility is an highly valuable skill in the new landscape of community journalism, and The Daily Citizen has an excellent opportunity for a well-rounded journalist who can do it all. The schedule is Monday through Friday — three days of sports, two days of news — and requires reporting, photography and design. Knowledge of Photoshop and InDesign is required, as is a positive attitude, having pride in one's craft, as well as a passion for community journalism and an obsession with putting out a great news and sports product. The successful candidate must be a self-starter, who takes direction well. This is the perfect opportunity for a Jack — or Jill — of all trades, who wants to become a master of those trades as well. The Daily Citizen is an award-winning 5,600-circulation daily newspaper situated in a friendly, growing city of over 22,000 residents who take their news and sports seriously. The Citizen has made several improvements over the past year, and has received a great deal of state-wide accolades, and even some national notice. Searcy is situated in the foothill of the Ozarks, one hour north of Little Rock and two hours west of Memphis. We offer competitive benefits, as well as a great deal of room for growth and advancement. The position pays $22,000. If you have what it takes, send your resume to Editor Jacob Brower at jbrower@thedailycitizen.com, or jwbrower@yahoo.com. (1)
